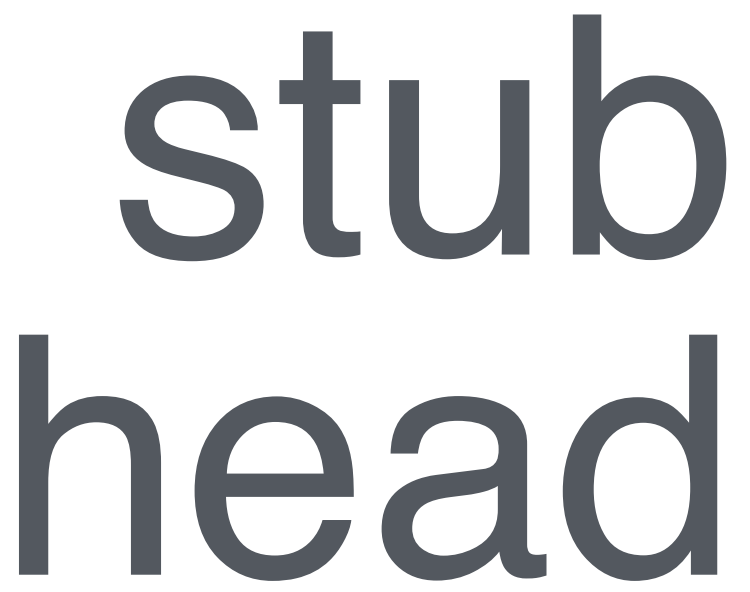
title
subtitle



stub
head

stub

row label

row label

row label

row label

stubhead label

table body

column labels

cell

cell

cell

cell

cell

cell

cell

cell

cell

cell

column label

column
label

column
label

row group label

summary label

summary cell

summary cell

summary cell

A table stub is not always needed but it can be useful.

Rows can be grouped, and they can have labels.

Summary rows can be added to groups (or, we can have a grand summary).

row group

Let’s look at the different parts of a table according to gt.

stub
head

row label

row label

row label

footnotes

source notes

stubhead

label

label

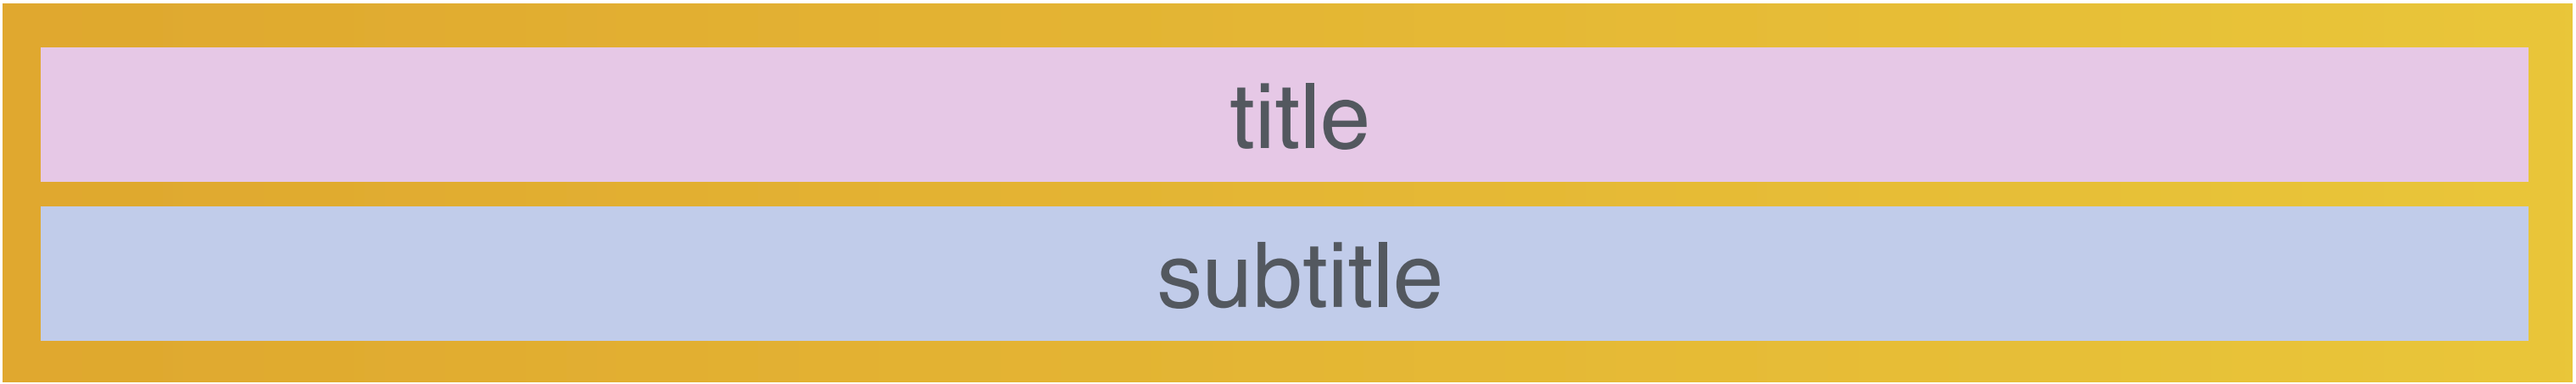
column

column

label

Rows can be grouped, and they can have labels.

A table header is a great place to add a title and a subtitle.



title
subtitle